

To Whom It May Concern:

My family of five (my wife, myself, and our three college student children) have three telephone lines into our home. Before we subscribed to the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law, we were bombarded with telephone solicitations; since subscribing we have had only one call (a computer call). This has been a great relief to all of us.

We sincerely believe that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen the effectiveness of the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. We feel that the law has given us a great benefit in allowing uninterrupted meals and family time.

Sincerely yours,
